DISCONTENT IS HEALTHY.

The progress of the world through all the ages has been founded upon human discontent. The dissatisfaction with things as they are, finding its expression in a determined, forceful struggle for improvement.

No reference is intended to the carling, snarling, whining discontent of the chronic pessimist; but that higher, nobler, divine discontent which moves men in their ambition for better things, and without which this old world would become as a stagnant pool, breeding disease, rotteness and decay in every branch of human endeavor.

Discontent, through the steps of its progress, made freemen of the vassals and villains of the feudal age, took from them the stigma of chattels and vested in them at least some of the rights of human beings; it impelled the religiously down-trodden inhabitants of the old world to begin the journey that saw its end at Plymouth Rock; it moved them later, when the hand of the oppressor became too firm, to defiantly toss the historic cargo of tea into Boston harbor; and it was this same noble quality of the human mind that furnished the vigor to prosecute the Revolutionary war and gave to the world the stars and stripes.

Industrially, discontent has ruled the mind of the worker since the plan of profiting by the labor of others was first devised. Those who through force of circumstances and for other reasons have heeded the biblical admonition to eat their bread in the sweat of their brow have seen their labor turned to the enrichment of others to their own detrimment, and from the knowledge of this condition has sprung a healthy and vigorous discontent that will exist and for good so long as any form of injustice finds a place in our industrial life.

The trade union, that most beneficial institution of the toiler, owes its birth to this industrial discontent. Discontent, through this medium, has brought the eight-hour day to many trades and is working ceaselessly for it in all the rest; it has secured for the worker many advantages of life he did not enjoy, and holds out to him the promise of still greater measure. Discontent is responsible for a greater degree of education for our children than ever; it is providing them with opportunities for knowledge instead of profit-making for others, and it is bringing the feet of the toiler solidly to the ground and his face to the light and making of him truly a man.

It is indeed strange, and a pity, that so many of the world's workers still withhold from this industrial army of discontent the affiliation and support they so surely owe and which can bring them so much good. More thoroughly, but impotently discontented than all the rest, they do not or cannot see that the only powerful and effective discontent is that which is crystallized and made known in concrete form, and which can find its expression only through organization working in the interest and for the good of all. But the gospel of united discontent is being carried to these benighted fellows, and steadily they are coming into our camp, and every able-bodied soldier in the army of unionism should be a missionary to bear the truth.

And you, brother unionist, how is your standard of discontent? Are you still full of the realization that there is yet withheld from you part of that which is yours by right of toil? Are you still with your shoulder to the organization wheel, striving to do your share in labor's struggle? Or are you content with what good your organization may do without your assistance—are you letting some of your fellows do the sowing while you assist at the harvest?
Or has some one told you that you should be contented—that you should "let well enough alone?"

Let no man preach to you the doctrine of contentment—this is the song of the siren. Where contentment reigns there is an end of progress; they cease to aspire to greater things, and then begins the period of retrogression and decay.
And the instant that labor assumes the posture of contentment that moment will commence the backward march—for it is at true today as ever that there is no such thing as standing still. And the army of labor must continue its forward march to industrial victory, and it needs the help of every wage-earner that its progress may be more rapid.

The man who tells you to be content is he who wants you to be satisfied with a bare existence, while he alone enjoys the comforts and luxuries which you produce. Your discontent is notice that he is to be called upon to relinquish some of the fruits of your labor he now wrongfully enjoys that you may get your share. He wants you to be contentment with an unfair division of the product of your toil, a condition beyond any human possibility.

So beguile us not with your "Let well enough alone." The man who voices this sophistry means well enough for himself, but not for you. He will be the first to profit by your false contentment, and you the one who will surely lose. So keep your shoulder to the wheel, brother unionist. Serve notice to the world that contentment can never come while progress is possible, and the end of progress is still some time away—Iron City Trades Journal.

About the State

One of a valuable span of grey horses belonging to Arthur G. Brown of Joricho lost in the barn one day this week and such a quantity of sheep did which was in the upper part, that it died from the effects of the poison in a few hours.

Nearly 200 school children of Rutland have been vaccinated in a few days following the smallpox scare caused by the illness of Mrs. Rowell Rollins. So far only one case has been reported. Day and night an officer is on duty in the street to see that quarantine regulations are respected.

The barns and sheds on the C. A.
Hodgdon farm in Greensboro Bend were burned Monday night, June 5, the cause being unknown. A large amount of personal property was also destroyed, including fourteen cows, twelve hogs and a large equipment of carriages, harnesses and farm machinery.

In the family of Antoine Nicholas of Brattleboro, who are in very poor circumstances, are 16 children, six of whom are ill with scarlet fever, four are recovering after a three weeks' illness and the rest have been exposed. Mr. Nicholas and one son are the only members of the family who have any income.

After 53 years of active service as a lawyer in Hudson, Wis., H. C. Baker, who is a descendant of Capt. Remember Baker, one of the famous leaders of the Green Mountain boys, has retired at the age of 80, because, he says, he needs a rest. He is a dean of the legal profession of St. Croix valley and has stood in the front ranks of lawyers in northern Wisconsin for many years.

Prof. George F. Burns of the university of Vermont, Burlington, who is directing experiments now being made in the farm of Tracy Brothers in Shelburne in the effort to eradicate kale from an out field of about three acres, says that the effect of the treatment applied Friday may have been destroyed by the hard rains of the past few days.

Burlington customs collectors have received notice from the assistant treasurer of the United States ordering the discontinuance of the enforcement of the law regarding shipment of live stock into this country. The notice provides that if the owner takes an American animal out of the country he must pay duty on the return. A storm of protest arose and horsemen said racing would be dealt a knockout blow. A large number of horses on the Canadian track are from northern New York. The law was in effect since 1909 and rigid enforcement was not required until May 25. With this law it would virtually stop traffic between the cities along the St. Lawrence river and Lake Ontario and Canada and an American driving across the line would have to pay duty on his horse to get back.

intendent Browncombe Remembered.

awarded the salutatory honor, was ill and unable to be present, her prepared welcome being read by Miss Helen Bowman, who also presented the ribbons to the president of the class of 1912, Evelyn Talley. The other speakers were Harold E. Pape, who delivered an oration on "Commission Government"; Miss Florence Perkins, class valued; Miss Florence Reed; presentation of diplomas; Mason S. Stone.

The essays, orations and recitations were interspersed with music by the high school chorus.

Regret was often expressed during the exercises at the coming departure of F. J. Browncombe, superintendent of schools, and as tokens of their regard, the graduating class presented him a smoking set; the junior class, a traveling bag, and the sophomore class an umbrella. The eighth grade class also presented him a bronze tobacco jar.

OLD CONGRESS HALL.

The Nation's Former Capitol to be Restored—$500,000.00 Appropriated for the Great Work.

With the signing of the ordinance appropriating $500,000.00 for remodeling and preserving the Old Congress hall at Philadelphia, is assured the success of the project which will perpetuate the memory of the historic structure, which for 19 years was the capitol building of the nation.

In a recent communication received from D. Knickerbocker Boyd, chairman of the committee on public information, 15th and Walnut streets, Philadelphia, Pa., he said:

To the Editor of American Stone Trade: Dear Sir: Only a few days ago the Mayor of Philadelphia approved the ordinance of council appropriating $500, 000.00 for the restoration of Congress Hall, one of the Independence Hall group of buildings so inseparably connected with the history of this country.

Now that the restoration and preservation of this important building is an accomplished fact the whole country will be interested to know that one of its priceless heirlooms is not to be further neglected and that, moreover, the restoration is to be undertaken by a committee thoroughly qualified by experience and through special research to direct the work.

Several years of effort on the part of the Philadelphia Chapter, A. I. A., and of its Committee on the Preservation of Historic Monuments are now crowned with success, and this success should, it seems to me, be an incentive to other organizations in whose territory buildings of historic or artistic value, to take steps to insure them against the ravages of time or ruthless intruders.

For any further information regarding this matter we would refer you to C.
A. Ziegler, chairman of the Committee on Preservation of Historic Monuments.

For restoration work, draughtsmen are now drawing plans from the enormous mass of data which has been patiently collected by a committee of the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Institution of Architects, which body has generously placed the expert services of its members at the disposal of the city for the proposed work. This committee on the Preservation of Historic Monuments is composed of Charles A. Ziegler, chairman, Baily building, Philadelphia; Frank Miles Day; George C. Mason; Horace Wells Sellers; Emile Stewardson.

The restoration of the building will mean that all improvements or reconstructions which have been made will be torn out and the building, in time, will be a monument to our country, to its cunning, as powerful or as well organized an enemy to oppose as that which blocks the path of organized labor to have a bill passed to erect a building for the use of the County of Philadelphia, but it was not until 1702 that resolution was passed giving the county a lot on which to erect the structure.
The exterior will be arranged as it stood when George Washington was inaugurated the second time, and which probably is the principal event in the history of the old Congress Hall. Quiet, but beautiful, ideas were carried out in the erection of this structure, and when the work of restoration is finished there will be a monument to our country, to its former rulers, and to all the staunch citizens who participated even in a small way in government affairs, which will probably never again be allowed to deteriorate.—American Stone Trade.

LOOK BEHIND BABY'S EARS.

Too often mothers forget that sores may form behind baby's ears because the perspiration is confined and irritates the tender skin while the head is resting on the pillow. Comfort Powder will prevent chafing and irritation entirely and also cures up these sores in a few days.
It is a wonderful healing powder to keep baby's skin in perfect health. Amette Kineman, trained nurse, Thetford, Vt., says, "Redness and chafing disappear as if by magic on the use of Comfort Powder." E. S. Sykes' name is on the genuine.

Work Will Soon Start

After you take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and you'll quickly enjoy their the whole system. Try them. Only
